For some reason this project just falls of my radar screen. Is it still active? Are we on the critical path, or are we in a hold position? If so, when do we run out of gas?

Hi Tom,

We are having trouble getting together to talk about our TRACON project, so I thought I'd send out a preliminary of what we are planning for the Environmental Assessment for DOE review and comment.

Since we last spoke, I have made contact with NMFS about the contents of the EA/BA section. Also, I've begun talking with John Beal about recommendations for protecting and possibly stewarding the creek. We hope to have an EA out for review within two months, but I'd like to jumpstart the dialogue with the people qualified to help us protect not only the creek (our more pressing concern) but the rest of the natural and human environment as well.

Could you please send me your mailing address? I'll get some information out to you.

Thanks,
